

MEI Receives Order for New Rotary Wet Process System *New System Order from a Repeat Customer

Albany, OR. April 28, 2007 – MEI LLC has received a purchase order for a three tank rotary wet process tool. This order required the tool design be capable of the process specifications while being customized to fit within the space requirements of the production floor. This type of flexibility is one of MEI's strongest selling points.

Dan Cappello, CEO of MEI said "We are very pleased to receive repeat business from this customer. The rotary design needed to be customized and yet still attractively priced relative to our competitors. That MEI is able to customize a tool and still be competitively priced is a real accomplishment".
