

MEI LLC Announces Acquisition of Houston Rigging Company, SS Industrial LP, Expanding MEI Rigging and Crating.

Plano , TX– June 28, 2010 – MEI Rigging and Crating, a leading provider of rigging and machinery moving services, announced today the acquisition of SS Industrial LP, a heavy equipment moving business based near Houston, in Tomball, Texas. This new business will be operated as MEI Rigging & Crating, and will provide full service rigging, machinery moving and related services to industry, including core markets – Oil field services, manufacturing, electrical contractors (switchgear), mechanical contractors (chillers, boilers, air handlers, etc.).

“This acquisition enables us to service our customers in the Houston area more effectively,” said Dan Cappello, CEO and President of MEI LLC. “Expansion in Texas makes sense to serve the growing needs of Houston industries. We can build upon the years of experience we have with service oriented, value added factory relocations, machinery moving and rigging.”

MEI’s expanded geographic base, including this new location in Houston, Texas and including Dallas Texas, Oregon and Utah enables MEI Rigging & Crating to readily serve the needs of the growing industrial, manufacturing, semiconductor and solar industries. Kurt Wozniak, General Manager of MEI Rigging & Crating points out, “The acquisition of this Houston office will allow us to serve a larger market with greater efficiencies. The depth and breadth of our Rigging experience is second to none.” With hundreds of clients nationwide, MEI Rigging and Crating is a leader in providing a broad range of rigging services to a wide variety of industries. MEI Rigging & Crating can deliver a comprehensive solution to industry customers relocating or storing equipment locally, nationally or overseas.
